Lycoming College To Offer Secondary Education Courses

1952 Arrow Wins First Prize

The 1952 Arrow, yearbook of Lycoming College, has been awarded first place award in the 18th annual yearbook contest conducted by the Columbia Scholastic Press Association at Columbia University.

Consistently well done was the general opinion of the Arrow. The book garnered 925 points out of a possible 1,000. Using drama as its general theme, which began on the end papers (just inside the cover), the Arrow opened with a quotation from Shakespeare's "As You Like It"—"All the world's a stage and the men and women merely players."

"The Pioneer's Arrow" as it was called was so named because the class of 1952 had been the first freshman class to enter Lycoming College in its four-year status.

Editor of the prize winning yearbook was Ralph Marion, Jr., '52, of Rockville Centre, N. Y. In May of 1951, immediately after his appointment as editor of the Arrow, Mr. Marion began planning the 1952 issue. Working hard all summer, he finished most of the initial planning by the beginning of the fall semester. Other members of the class of '52 who worked on the prize winning yearbook were: Nancy Hall, associate editor; Catherine Vardner McDonald, senior editor; Ann Davies, feature editor; Joseph Wool and Lawrence Reidy, business managers, and Earl Cavanaugh, fraternity editor.

Lycoming Offers New Five-Year Program

Lycoming College has agreed to cooperate with The Pennsylvania State College, Bucknell University, and Duke University in a five-year educational program in which a student can qualify for degrees in liberal arts and in engineering. This announcement came jointly from Robert F. Rich, president of the college board of directors and Dr. John W. Long, college president.

Under the educational program with the larger schools, students will be able to attend Lycoming for three years and transfer to one of the others for two more, Dr. Long explained. Upon completion of the five years, the student will receive a liberal arts degree from Lycoming College and an additional degree from the other school.

Lycoming College has added to its growing list of accomplishments. Dr. John W. Long, president of Lycoming, was advised that the State Council of Education at its meeting in Harrisburg on November 7, 1952, approved the application of Lycoming College for the education of teachers in the secondary field.

With the receipt of this letter, Dr. Long appointed a faculty committee of five to arrange the education curriculum. The committee is composed of G. Heil Gramley, director of admissions; William S. Hoffman, academic dean; Frances E. Knights, associate professor of mathematics; Oliver E. Harris, guidance counselor; and Robert F. Smith, assistant professor of history.

The high schools and junior high schools of Williamsport and surrounding towns will be used as training fields for the prospective teachers. These include Roosevelt, Curtin, and Stevens Junior High Schools, South Williamsport Junior-Senior High School, Williamsport, Montoursville, Jersey Shore and Hughesville High Schools.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Rev. Lawrence W. Lykens Named As Assistant to the President

Dear Alumni:

For some time there has been an expressed desire that someone be added to the administrative staff of the college whose duties would be, in part at least, with the Alumni. It gives me considerable satisfaction, therefore, to announce that at the Fall meeting of the Board of Directors I recommended the appointment of Rev. Lawrence W. Lykens with the official title—Assistant to the President. His main duties to be:

- (1) Alumni Secretary.
- (2) Student promotion.

In addition he is concerned with public relations through churches, service clubs, attendance at annual conferences, young people's gatherings and wherever he may find an opportunity to appear in the interest of the college. Of course, he will be on the lookout for those who are prepared to make financial contributions to the college either in cash or through annuities and bequests.

I am glad to report further that he has indicated his willingness to accept the position and Bishop Oxnam has indicated that he will make the appointment though the date for the appointment and the date on which Lawrence will come to take up his duties at the college is not definitely established. It is hoped this will take place early in the new year.

I know you will welcome him and assist him in organizing clubs and in other ways so that he will be able to make his contacts with our alumni as effective and his service to the college as fruitful as possible.

In the October Bulletin I made a special plea for your assistance in forwarding names of prospective students. The response to that appeal has been most gratifying. The following pastors have sent in either lists or individual names:

|--------------------------|---------------------|
| Rev. F. LaMont Henninger | Altoona, Pa. |
| Rev. Joseph G. Rigby | Altoona, Pa. |
| Rev. R. Bruce Smay | Avis, Pa. |
| Rev. Lorenzo Plyler | Fairview Parish |
| Rev. A. Glenn Mower, Jr. | Jersey Shore, Pa. |
| Rev. LaRue G. Bender | McConnellsburg, Pa. |
| Rev. Ferdinand Derk | Shickshinny, Pa. |
| Rev. David L. Long | Shippensburg, Pa. |
| Rev. Walter Glenn | Catawissa, Pa. |
| Rev. Lawrence Lykens | Montoursville, Pa. |
| Rev. G. C. Kerr | Elysburg, Pa. |

We are, of course, following up by sending literature and as rapidly as possible making individual calls. Please continue this good work since we have room for more students and one very important way to attract them to the college is your good word of recommendation. Again let me thank you and assure you we are counting on your continued cooperation in all ways in the interest of Lycoming College.

Faithfully yours,
JOHN W. LONG, President

As We Go to Press —

Rev. Lawrence Lykens, newly appointed Assistant to the President will assume his duties on January 1, 1953. Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam, bishop of the Washington area officially approved the appointment just before Thanksgiving. Rev. Lykens is pastor of Montoursville Methodist Church.

Tea, Dance and Dinner Planned For Holidays

Three all-college events will highlight the Christmas season at Lycoming College beginning the first week in December.

On December 7, the associated women students will entertain the students and faculty at tea in Rich Hall. The following Saturday night, December 13, the Christmas formal is scheduled. Johnny Nicolosi will provide the music and the tickets are only $1.50 a couple. Zeta Delta Kappa fraternity is again sponsoring the Christmas Dance.

The annual Christmas dinner will be held in Clarke Dining Room Monday, December 15.

Lycoming Dean Hopes to Inscribe 50,000th Diploma

Forty-three thousand of the Pennsylvania State College's 50,000 graduates own diplomas upon which the names are hand-lettered by William S. Hoffman, dean of Lycoming College. Dean Hoffman is the former registrar of Penn State.

Lettering diplomas was begun as a sideline in 1922, when the normal graduating class was in the neighborhood of 500. Now the classes approximate 2,000.

Instead of working on each diploma individually until it is finished, he makes layouts for 20 or 30 at once, letters the names in Old English style, then starts layouts for another batch.

"On my diplomas," he adds proudly, "there are no ruled lines or pencil marks. I put the name right on in ink."

Dean Hoffman estimates that the number of diplomas he has inscribed since 1922, if laid end to end, would stretch for 12 miles; if stacked on top of each other, would make a pile 27 feet high.

In his capacity as official engrosser, he has lettered diplomas for young people from many countries, including several Chinese graduates who asked that their names be inscribed in their native language "so Grandma back home in Canton can read them."

An Invitation from Donald G. Remley, Placement Director

Donald G. Remley, '17, assistant professor of mathematics, has been named placement director of Lycoming College. Mr. Remley has been very busy placing students in jobs in town over the weekends or during the week after classes.

Mr. Remley invites all alumni to maintain contact with him for frequently old alumni may be supplied with just the workers they need. Furthermore new alumni are prompted toward more satisfactory connections. States Mr. Remley, "Wise alumni are they who keep in touch with the Placement Bureau."

Returns Home

Henry Long, son of Dr. and Mrs. John W. Long, returned home after almost four years in the Air Force. During that time, Mr. Long was stationed in Texas and in Germany. During the time he was overseas, Mr. Long spent his leaves visiting Paris and England.

He plans to enter Lycoming in February as a freshman.

Little things are little things, but faithfulness to little things is something great. —AUGUSTINE

Hoffnagle and Baer To Supplement Coaching Staff

Two assistants have been added to the Lycoming College coaching staff for the basketball season, it has been announced by Head Coach Robert Smith, director of athletics. Mac Hoffnagle, former South Williamsport football coach and basketball aide, and Lee Baer will assist during the 1952-53 season. Mr. Baer is a member of the Lycoming faculty serving as director of men's physical education. Coach Smith stated that Hoffnagle, who will continue teaching at South Williamsport, will also serve as statistician. Mr. Baer's additional duties will be that of trainer.

Five Copies of New Bible Were Presented

Five copies of the Revised Standard Version of the Bible were presented to members of the student body and administration at the local observance of the publication.

In a chapel period sponsored by the Student Christian Association, Miss Frances E. Knights, faculty advisor of the SCA presented a copy to Dr. John W. Long, president of Lycoming. A copy was presented to Mrs. Lula Brunstetter for the John W. Long Memorial Library, and to seniors Ruth Thompson, Jay W. House, and Herman E. Stenger, leaders of the SCA.

Reserve This Date

The Annual Greater Lycoming Banquet is fast overtaking us. Plans have been tentatively made by the Activities Committee to hold the banquet Saturday, February 21, 1953. Alumni are asked to reserve that date, for we like as many as possible to attend this year.

PORTRAITS PRESENTED

The Honorable Robert F. Rich, president of the board of directors, has presented a portrait of W. F. Rich which has been placed in the parlor of Rich Hall together with the portraits of Robert F. Rich and his father, M. B. Rich.

A portrait of the late Mrs. Julia Trump Rich has been presented by her husband, Mr. Rich, and has been placed in the Julia Trump Rich Room in the John W. Long Library.

Two New Profs Added; M. J. Strong and John W. Chandler

Merton Joseph Strong, Jr., of Plattsburg, N. Y., has been named assistant professor sociology at Lycoming College.

Mr. Strong received his bachelor's degree in education from Plattsburg State Teachers College and received his masters degree from Syracuse University. He is currently working on his doctor's degree from Syracuse.

Mr. Strong spent three years in the Army Air Forces as a sergeant after completing his practice teaching at Plattsburg. After discharge from the Air Force he returned to Syracuse to study and also held the title of graduate assistant.

From 1946-49 he was a personnel assistant at Syracuse University.

Mr. Strong comes to Lycoming from Lynchburg College, Lynchburg, Va., where he had been assistant professor of social science. Mr. Strong is a member of Phi Delta Kappa (research committee).

John William Chandler, Concord, N. H., has been named as an instructor in the art department. Mr. Chandler was graduated from the Exeter School of Art, Boston and the Manchester Institute of Art and Sciences, Manchester, N. H. St. Anselm's College with a major in social sciences. He also attended a summer session at the University of Southern California, Boston University and studied privately with Maurice Compris and many other well-known artists.

Mr. Chandler was an instructor in the Fine Arts Department of the Manchester Institute for 15 years and for the last seven years was the executive director of the department. He has also served as acting director of the League of New Hampshire Arts and Crafts, assistant to director to Currier Gallery of Art and instructor of painting Concord Artists Incorporated, Concord, N. H.

Former president of the New Hampshire Art Association, Mr. Chandler is now the secretary at exhibition chairman of the Merrimack Valley region arts and crafts association. He is a member of several other art associations.

In 1947 Mr. Chandler won first award for an exhibition in the Currier Gallery of Art, one of the many institutions in which he has exhibited his work.

1953 Arrow Offered for Sale

To all alumni and friends of Lycoming College, the 1953 Arrow is being offered for the second year. Last year many alumni took advantage of this offer and were quite pleased with the complete coverage of vents of their alma mater. This year plans for the yearbook are fairly well complete and look as good as before.

The subscription price will be $5.95 and checks should be made payable to The Lycoming College Arrow.

All books will be mailed in June, prepaid. In ordering your copy of the 1953 Arrow please use the accompanying form.

Medical Society to Be Formed at Lycoming

A pre-medical society is to be formed by the pre-medical and pre-dental students on Lycoming's campus. The students interest grew out of a pre-medical conference held in November, in Philadelphia.

This conference was held at Temple University and Lasalle College, sponsored by Alpha Epsilon Delta, a national pre-medical society. All the pre-medical and pre-dental students will belong to the local society; however, only those with 2. average or better will qualify for Alpha Epsilon Delta.

Twenty students have expressed a definite interest in having a society formed here at Lycoming. Medical societies are found in most colleges in eastern Pennsylvania.

Religion-In-Life Week Scheduled

"Religion-in-Life-Week" will be held February 24-26 on Lycoming College campus. Miss Frances E. Knights, chairman of the committee, has announced that the main speaker for the occasion will be Dr. John W. Ruskin.

The philosopher William James described conversation as "the thinker's laboratory."

This suggests that conversation is talk which has an experimental quality. When you converse you do not bring up the ideas you are certain about with a view to converting somebody. You bring up the ideas you are uncertain about with a view to clarifying your own mind.

You toss an idea up into the air and invite the rest of the company to see if they can bring it down. You do your very best to keep it afloat. If you succeed, you have won something. If you fail, you have won just as much. You now know that your idea is untenable.

Conversation is the most exciting game in the world and the most rewarding. All the players use loaded dice, and yet all the players win even when they lose.

This may sound fantastic but it is true. Both winners and losers will be surprised when they count up their game in the friendly darkness of the homeward-bound bus.
